positive results for life™

Gearing up for the flu starts with Covidien

The Centers for Disease Control (CDC) estimates that the 2009 H1N1 influenza virus resulted in approximately 12,000 flu-related deaths in the United States.<sup>1</sup> The CDC's Advisory Committee recommends that every person six months of age and older receive a flu vaccine each season.

Covidien's medical supplies are the ideal solution to fulfill your needs when administering vaccines. Our complete line of vaccine preparedness products includes a variety of high quality safety and wound care products that help to ensure protection for clinicians and patients. Make Covidien your preferred manufacturer for preventing the spread of the flu virus this season.

We've
got it all.
